HOW TO USE THIS GUIDE

Welcome! Whether you are transgender or getting this information for a friend, family member, or child, we have resources to help.

We have designed this guide to be user friendly, simple, and informative. We hope it provides you with information you may not even know you need, along with the support you deserve.

Being transgender can be a difficult road, but you are not alone! The local trans community is here to help.

We have included resources for you, your family, friends, medical providers, therapists, spiritual leaders, schools, teachers, coaches, and even your employers and landlords.

You can read through the guide, cover to cover, or jump ahead to a specific resource using the Table of Contents.

If you have a need that is not represented in this guide or have feedback on this guide in general, please contact Brooke Maylath at the Transgender Allies Group: brooke@transgenderalliesgroup.org.

DISCLAIMER: We do not endorse providers on this list; we are simply collecting local resources. We encourage individuals seeking information and care to find the right providers for themselves, as well as to double check information found online. There is no charge to be on this list. Thank you to our providers.

MORE ON BEING TRANSGENDER

Looking for more information on what Transgender is or means?

Until a few years ago, information on being Transgender was scarce, and standards were almost unknown. As more people become aware of what it means to be Trans, more people identify with the umbrella term. It's important to note that every person is different and each of our journeys look different. Some of us feel the need to "transition" while others don't; some of us want to have HRT (hormone replacement therapy or cross gender hormones), and for others, this is one step in a long line of surgeries that may take years or happen quickly. It's important that each person choose what works best for them, their family, support network, financial health, etc.

We don't wish to define your journey, only to provide you with the support and tools to make it successful. We want your quality of life to be spectacular; because we all deserve to be happy, loved, respected, accepted, and most of all, ourselves.

GLOSSARY

TRANSGENDER is an umbrella term that is getting more use over transsexual or transvestite. Transgender is NOT about sexual orientation or who you find yourself attracted to sexually – it is about the gender you feel you most closely identify with (or feel you ARE) in your mind, heart, and soul. This term means that the gender you identify with internally does not match the SEX you were assigned at birth (usually based on your genitalia) by a doctor.

CIS-GENDER is a term for those whose gender identity matches what they were assigned as their SEX at birth.

GENDER BINARY is a term that describes the Male / Female system of gender widely adopted by society wherein someone is “either” Male OR Female.

GENDER CONTINUUM is a term that more accurately explains how everyone in the world is shades of both ‘Male’ and ‘Female’ in their identity, behaviors, actions, personality traits, etc. It specifically is used to point out how the Gender Binary system is inadequate as a method of defining one’s gender since everyone is somewhere on the continuum and that people can move back and forth between the socially defined Male and Female or live completely in the middle or undefined within the Gender Binary system.

GENDER FLUID is a term that some transgender people have used to express that their Gender Identity is not defined in the binary as either Male or Female, but that it can move between or is some of both and unique unto themselves.

GENDER IDENTITY is a term to express what you feel is your gender (not your SEX).

SEX is a term that is used to define what your biological, chromosomal, or genitalia were (assigned at birth) and is expressed in the Gender Binary terms of Male or Female.

TRANSITION is a term used to describe the changes that some transgender people undergo to make their outside appearance match their gender identity better than their current (or biological) body. Not all transgender people transition, and it is important to understand that how far or how little someone changes their outward appearance is for that person to decide themselves.

SOC (STANDARDS OF CARE) refers to the WPATH document that has set the standard for how medical professionals treat the transgender population.

NORTHERN NEVADA STANDARDS OF CARE COLLECTIVE

How we work: The SOCC is simply a list of clinicians who have agreed to provide these services in our community at reduced costs. Please look first for someone on your insurance, so the lowest rates can be preserved for those who do not have insurance. If you do not have insurance, let the clinician know what you can pay. The range is $250 to $60 for the assessment and subsequent letter. If a clinician is full, or has done as many of the low-cost sessions as they can in a given time period, the clinician may refer to other clinicians on this list or elsewhere. The purpose of the collective is not ongoing therapy. However, some of these clinicians may be available for ongoing therapy at the same rate or a different rate if you are seeking therapy. If the clinician recommends therapy after your evaluation, the clinician will provide you with names of potential therapists, in addition to letting you know if they are available or not.
